FOREWORD

This FY 2011-2012 Directory of the Manufacturers' Representatives was prepared by the Central Florida Chapter of ASHRAE to foster better communications between all segments of the local industry.

Listings are not limited to ASHRAE members. THE DIRECTORY IS NOT ADVERTISEMENT NOR CONSTITUTES ANY ENDORSEMENT OF ANY PRODUCT OR COMPANY BY ASHRAE. The information herein was furnished by listing firms, and is edited to give as much conformity to basic information as possible. The Chapter cannot be responsible for errors or inaccuracies that might occur.

A committee consisting of ASHRAE members prepared the Directory. Firms not listed that would like to be included in future annual issues should contact one of the BOARD OF GOVERNORS listed in the proceeding pages.

IN THE BEGINNING....

If you had been a member of ASHRAE in 1960 and wished to participate in and receive the benefits of Chapter activities, once a month around 3:30 or 4:00 in the afternoon, you would meet some like-minded friends at some convenient place, get into as few cars as possible, and head for Tampa. After a couple of years of doing that, it would get pretty old; so on the long ride back and forth you start thinking about all the people in Central Florida who are in this business and asking why can't we have a chapter in Orlando, and do them and us a favor. That's what four of the first five past presidents listed on the next page, and a few other civic-minded individuals did.

They started talking to their friends and competitors. They wrote to Society headquarters and were told that within the geographic boundaries from Ormond Beach to Vero Beach on the East Coast and from Leesburg to Lakeland on the western side of the state, there were already 50-60 known members. As a result of their efforts, a charter was granted and the Central Florida Chapter of ASHRAE started meeting in the fall of 1962, with 70 area assigned members. Due to the perennial Florida problem of retirees, they struggled to get twenty active participants; but they persisted, and thanks to their efforts and those of a lot of people who followed them, the Chapter has grown and flourished to what it is today.

Today the chapter has over 324 area assigned members and typically 50-80 people regularly attend monthly meetings.

John Simmonds (and others)

FROM THE CHAPTER PRESIDENT

The Central Florida Chapter of ASHRAE is pleased to once again offer the 2011-2012 Roster and Product Directory. This booklet is very informative piece of literature, which has been compiled by our hardworking roster and product directory chairperson, Tom Edwards and co-chair, Gary Carver.

This directory includes a listing of Central Florida manufacturer's representatives, consulting engineers, mechanical contractors and a listing of our local members. As a consulting engineer, I can assure all of our vendors out there that I continue to turn to my directory several times a week when looking up product representation and I know that I am not alone. Thank you to all of the vendors, engineers and contractors who have already signed up for inclusion in this year's edition of our product directory. If you have not had the opportunity to sign up for the directory, now is your chance. Please contact Tom Edwards (tedwards@stanweaver.com) or Gary Carver (Carver2@earthlink.net) for information on how to be a part of this excellent informational and marketing tool ASHRAE Central Florida is proud to provide to our members every year.

On behalf of the ASHRAE Central Florida Executive Committee, Board of Governors and Committee Chairs I would like to thank all of our engineer, contractor and vendor friends for their support of our Roster and Product Directory. Without this support our directory would not continue to be a success.

Here's to a successful 2011-2012 ASHRAE year. I hope to see everyone at our first local meeting on September 8th, 2011 at Dubsdread. Come on out and support your local Central Florida Chapter of ASHRAE.

John Miller, P.E.

Air

Q sensible (BTH) = CFM x 1.1 x ΔT ($^{\circ}F$), moist air, for dry air use 1.08

Q total (BTH) = CFM x 4.5 x Δh , 4.5 = .075 #/cf x 60 min/hr

Q latent (BTU) = CFM x 4840 x (w1 - w2) gr/gr; = CFM x .68 x (w1 - w2) ##

$h(wbt) = 10.12924 + .000357914 (wbt)^{2.6213}$

MAT = (% OA x OAT) + (% RA x RAT)

Velocity pressure = $(V/4005)^2$

% outside air = (MAT-RAT)/(RAT-OAT)

MAT – mixed air temp, RAT – return air temp, OAT – outside air temp

OA – CFM outside air, RA – CFM return air

Air Handling Unit

BHP = (CFM x SP[”])/(6356 x eff)

BHP = (RLA - .5 x NLA)/(FLA - .5 x NLA) x HP(nameplate)

NLA – no load amps, RLA – run load amps, FLA – full load amps

$T_{LDB} = T_{EDB} - (SHC/(1.1 \times CFM))$, T_{LDB} = temp leaving coil, T_{EDB} = temp entering

$h_L = h_E - (THC/(4.5 \times CFM))$, h_L = enthalpy leaving, h_E = temp entering,

THC = total cooling capacity MBH

$CFM_a = CFM_b \times (RPM_a/RPM_b)$

$SP_a = SP_b \times (RPM_a/RPM_b)^2$

$HP_a = HP_b \times (RPM_a/RPM_b)^3$

Pump

BHP = (GPM x TDH) / (3962 x eff)

$GPM_a = GPM_b \times (RPM_a/RPM_b)$

$HEAD_a = HEAD_b \times (RPM_a/RPM_b)^2$

$BHP_a = BHP_b \times (RPM_a/RPM_b)^3$

Water

$H_v (ft) = (V_o^2 - V_i^2) / (2 \times g)$

V_o – outlet velocity in fps

V_i – inlet velocity in fps

$V = .408 \times GPM / (D^2)$

BTU/Hr = GPM x 500 x ΔT

500 = 8.33 #/gal x 60 min/hr

GPM = $C_v \sqrt{\Delta P}$ (ΔP in PSI)

TONS = GPM x ΔT / 24

Refrigeration

HP/ton = 4.71/COP

Energy

KW/ton = 12/EER

KW/ton = 12/(COP x 3.413)

KW = VOLTS X AMPS X PF X $\sqrt{(PHASE)}/1000$

Water Coils

$\Delta T(air) = 927 \times MBH(coil)/CFM$

$\Delta T(water) = 2.04 \times MBH(coil)/GPM$
